The 2010/11 Hartke Theatre season has it all: innovative theatre, family struggles, candid dialogue, clever wordplay, ethical dilemmas, classic favorites, jealousy, redemption, twists, turns, and above all people: mothers, fathers, sons, daughters, dealing with loss, love and life's challenges, seeking courage, resolution and hope.

Feb. 17-27, 2011
In Repertory
Requiem
By Timothy J. Guillot
(M.F.A. Playwriting Candidate)
Directed by Joe Banno
The ones we’ve loved and lost are gone, but their memory remains. Requiem: An innovative musical drama about overcoming grief and finding hope.

April 7-17, 2011
Cymbeline
By William Shakespeare
Directed by Eleanor Holdridge
Shakespeare’s rousing romance of enduring love and unbridled jealousy. Courageous heroes, outrageous clowns, princes abducted at birth, power-hungry rulers and licentious villains strive for redemption and forgiveness against the epic backdrop of Ancient Britain and Imperial Rome.

Nov. 18-21, 2010
Whales
By Bob Bartlett
(M.F.A. Playwriting Candidate)
Directed by Gregg Henry
This bittersweet comedy, set in the lower Outer Banks of North Carolina, explores the fractured relationship between a thoroughly urban 14-year-old boy and his fisherman father as they struggle to save a stranded whale.

Oct. 14-17, 2010
Another Part of the Forest
By Lillian Hellman
Directed by Marietta Hedges
A ruthless Civil War profiteer’s fortune is endangered when his own dysfunctional family turns on him. In this classic story of a southern family set in Alabama in the 1880’s, the Klan, race, sex and money collide.

She Said/She Said
By Rebecca Gingrich-Jones
(M.F.A. Playwriting Candidate)
Directed by Kasi Campbell
When love between two people dies, who decides what’s best for their son? When even the courts can’t agree on who the parents are, will God’s justice prevail?
